DIOCESAN BOUNDARIES
The Diocese of Cleveland was established April 23, 1847. It comprises, since July 22, 1943, eight counties in the north-central part of Ohio – Ashland, Cuyahoga, Geauga, Lake, Lorain, Medina, Summit and Wayne counties. Square miles: 3,414.

This area of Ohio had a Catholic population of 633,492 in 2020 or about 23% of the total population, which in the 2019 U.S. Census estimate was reported to be 2,758,656.

THE DISTRICT STRUCTURE
The District Structure provides a consistent, similar structure throughout the diocese for gathering people in pastoral administration and ministry within parishes. This structure seeks the diversity of input that reflects the thinking and feeling of district members. It is intended to support people in carrying forth the common mission of the Church within their parishes, communities, the diocese and the world.

The Archives of the Diocese of Cleveland maintains the following records:

- Sacramental books from closed parishes
- Sacramental books from closed institutions such as orphanages and hospitals
- Student transcripts from closed high schools and elementary schools

In addition, the Archives maintains a baptismal database of records collected from active parishes. While it is extensive and very helpful, it is not a complete collection. It is used as a resource to help guide people with questions about their sacramental history.

For further assistance or questions please call the Archives at (216) 696-6525 ext. 3450 or go to the website http://www.dioceseofcleveland.org and search for “Archives Office”.
