The Hesburgh Sabbatical Program is a curriculum centered, community based, holistic sabbatical that fosters both personal and professional renewal and provides continuing formation for ministers in the Church. The sabbatical program is based upon the four main components of continuing education: human, spiritual, intellectual, and pastoral. Weekly theological reflection helps to integrate all the components into the participant's ministry. Spiritual direction is available, as is participation in a fitness program through the University of Chicago. Participants are also encouraged to join in the many programs and activities at CTU.
